

The Top 15 Climate Tech Awards You Should Apply For

The Climate Tech industry has rapidly evolved over the past few years. From C-Suite executives to climate change activists, the growing industry has channeled a wide array of new opportunities for people across the globe. Although the term “Climate-Tech” has floated around the environmental field since the early 2010s, it has become one of the most futuristic and revolutionizing industries to date. In such a competitive market, it can often be difficult to stand out, especially without reputable awards and recognition.

We’ve compiled a list of the top Climate Tech awards that your company should apply for in order to stand out against competitors. Whether your company is looking to gain awareness on a new innovation or simply interested in how other Climate Tech companies are developing their brand, these 15 awards are the best to apply for.

Climate Tech

About Channel V Media

Get In Touch

Welcome to Channel V Media (CVM). We’re an award-winning PR and communications agency founded in 2008.

We build market momentum for Fortune 500 and emerging companies, advising and executing on Communications Strategy, PR strategy, and digital marketing. We specialize in breaking clients into new markets and categories, rising to the top of crowded conversations, and reinvigorating enthusiasm for long-standing companies as they compete in new areas.

CVM builds awareness for companies and their products, develops C-suite leaders into industry visionaries, positions clients to be among the most vocal in high-value conversations, and drives inbound leads.

Some of our clients include Sopra Banking Software, GFT, Penn Mutual, IBM, Bluecore, Grapeshot + Oracle, and others.

For more information on Channel V Media, visit channelvmedia.com or reach out to us hello@channelvmedia.com